

María Osaba Esteban

Lecturer

Academic Background

1999/2004 Bachelor in Business Administration (Management and Logistics major) and Master in Leadership Skills

Teaching activity

She currently teaches Operations Management, in the degrees of ADE + FAB, ADE + DED and ADE + ITI at Deusto Business School in the Department of Strategy and Information Systems.

Previously, also at the University of Deusto, she collaborated in the subjects of Logistics Strategy, Organizational Development (from PriceWaterhouseCoopers) and Management Styles and Organizational Culture (from BearingPoint).

Professional career

She began her professional career in Management Consulting at BearingPoint and PriceWaterhouseCoopers, developing Business Strategy and Information Systems projects.

Subsequently, she joined Vascofar S.Coop., a pharmaceutical distribution cooperative, as Purchasing and Logistics Director, having held the functional responsibilities of Purchasing Management, Procurement Management, Production Management and Warehouse Management and Logistics Management.

Currently, she is Operations Director at Unnefar S.Coop, third cooperative pharmaceutical distribution group in Spain, leading the management of the Procurement area and the coordination of Information Systems, as well as the implementation of strategic projects for the Group.